ABOUT US

Making a difference in the world, one dish at a time.

Devoted to creating a better planet, VerTerra's compostable dinnerware offers a variety of eco-friendly, sophisticated, and fairly priced single-use dinnerware that appeal to the environmentally-and socially-conscious consumer. Michael Dwork, VerTerra's CEO, first encountered palm leaf plates in India in 2005. Michael witnessed a woman on the side of the road soaking leaves in water and pressing them in a crude waffle iron, creating an all-natural plate on which to serve her traditional Indian food. In that moment, Michael realized that he could transform this simple innovation into a business that would positively impact the world.

VerTerra offers a sophisticated element of nature to each table, with beautiful design and sustainable production. Lightweight, yet sturdy, VerTerra compostable products can withstand hot and cold foods and liquids, and are microwaveable and oven-safe. Most importantly, our products are environmentally-safe, created only from fallen palm leaves and water, without any glues, plastics, lacquers, veneers or toxins.

VerTerra was founded upon principles of creating a better planet through sustainable manufacturing and delivery initiatives, and through provision of equal employment opportunities in rural India and Indonesia. VerTerra is rooted in the Latin phrase "Veritas Terra", which means "true to the Earth". At VerTerra, we are inspired by that phrase every day. Our mission is to produce the highest quality products at fair prices, using sustainable production methods and fair-wage labor. We stay true to the Earth by borrowing an agricultural byproduct, fallen palm leaves, and returning them to the Earth through compost. Our goal is to conserve resources for future generations and make a difference, one dish at a time.

"When you divert 94% of your solid waste from 3 million visitors that you see yearly, as we do, VerTerra was the only solution that would fit our needs at the Statue of Liberty. We became a VerTerra partner in 2009 and have not looked back!"

FALL-PALM

DINNERWARE FROM FALLEN LEAVES™

THE PROCESS

Borrowed from the earth and returned.

VerTerra palm dinnerware is made in our factories in India, where employees work in a safe environment and receive fair wages and access to health care. The production process is simple and transparent: after collecting fallen leaves that would normally be burned, we apply steam, heat and pressure to transform the leaves into dinnerware that will compost naturally in two months.

Our priority is to be true to the Earth. We are always developing new ways to make the entire process- from gathering materials, to delivering our leaf dinnerware to your party-more eco-friendly.

The first step in making our leaf dinnerware is to collect fallen leaves from plantations. Trees are not cut down during this method. The leaves are then brought into the factory, where they are sprayed with high-pressure water, steamed and UV sterilized. As a creation of only two products, palm leaves and water, our ecofriendly dinnerware is completely non-toxic and chemical free. Our dinnerware can withstand up to 2 minutes in the microwave on a high heat setting or up to 45 minutes in the oven on 350° as long as they are at least 6" from the heat source. Over 80% of the water used in this process is recaptured and reused. In fact, the whole manufacturing processes only requires 10% of the energy used in recycling. No chemicals, lacquers, glues, bonding agents, or other toxins are added to our compostable products, which keeps your meal and our Earth free from harm.

Why You'll Love VerTerra Dinnerware From Fallen Leaves™

- All-natural product made from only fallen palm leaves, steam, heat and pressure
- Fallen palm leaves would otherwise be burned as waste
- Certified compostable in fewer than 60 days in an industrial facility
- No heat transference
- BPI-certified 100% compostable
- Made only in our factories, nothing is outsourced
